

Cancer Forum

Has cancer touched your life? Do you need someone to talk to? Would you like to help others?

If you are a sufferer, carer, supporter, or know of someone who is, then we invite you to join us on the Australian Cancer Forum. Members of this forum offer support and share their own experiences. It has been created by a Family living with cancer and supported by caring and friendly people from all over Australia.

Talk about your feelings or your situation with others who understand, in the privacy of your own home.

Learn more about cancer from those who are living or have lived with this indiscriminating disease.

Got to: www.australiancancerforum.com

We look forward to meeting you.